Brace yourselves... the future is now!

A sneak preview that reveals what tomorrow really means for us today and how to stay ahead

The way we live has changed dramatically, nevertheless not as much as it will in the next years...

The changes underway are systemic and cultural, will affect our everyday lives and challenge many of the fundamental assumptions that underlie the structure and design of today's organizations.

We need a fresh, holistic view into a fascinating tomorrow that will help us rethink our organizations strategies and tactics.

Alex Athanassoulas, our member, Founder and CEO of STIRIXIS Group will ignite the discussion sharing with us his perspectives on what the context of change will be and how the future of work requires leaders with specific capabilities.
